Who

The Epilepsy Foundation of Georgia is a charitable non-profit, volunteer and professional organization committed to the prevention and control of epilepsy, and to helping improve the lives of people who have epilepsy. The foundation is a statewide voluntary health organization dedicated to the prevention and cure of seizure disorders, the alleviation of its effects, and the promotion of independence and optimal quality of life for the people who have these disorders. Through its community involvement with employers, teachers, law enforcement officials, health care professionals, and individuals with epilepsy and their families, the agency is active in a broad range of programs. These programs include information and education, advocacy, camp scholarships and the delivery of specialized services.
